ABOUT ME

My journey with web development started in 2014. Since the first lines of code I realized I have found something I want to do professionally. I have been learning new technologies, languages and good practices to expand my as a better web developer.

I am an ambitious person who likes solving problems during my projects. I am also very motivated - since 2014 I have been trying to spend my free time on improving my basic front-end skills (HTML5, CSS3, JavaScript) and learning new one because it is my passion.

I am a team player with good communication skills - I currently work as a Team Leader and I know how important good comunication in group is.
